AFTER A CRISIS

(Much of this information was compiled from various web sites such as www.fema.gov and www.redcross.org)

- Be aware of new hazards created by the disaster.
- Watch for washed out roads, contaminated buildings, contaminated water, gas leaks, broken glass, damaged wires and slippery floors.
- Stay away from downed power lines.
- Check for injuries
- Give first aid and get help for seriously injured people.
- Listen to your battery powered radio for news and instructions.
- Evacuate, if advised to do so. Wear protective clothing and sturdy shoes.
- Confine or secure your pets.
- Call your family contact— do not use the telephone again unless it is a life-threatening emergency.
- Check on your neighbours, especially elderly or disabled persons.
- Watch out for broken glass.
- Walk around a building before entering.
- Look for loose wires, gas leaks, etc.
- Use caution when entering a damaged building. Be sure that walls, ceiling and roof are in place and that the structure rests firmly on the foundation. Wear sturdy work boots and gloves.
- Shut off any other damaged utilities.

AFTER A CRISIS (Continued)

- Leaking gas or other flammable materials may be present.
- Do not use oil, gas lanterns, candles or torches for lighting inside a damaged home.
- Do not smoke.
- Do not turn on the lights until you're sure they're safe to use.
- Use flashlights — do not light matches or turn on electrical switches, if you suspect damage.
 - The flashlight should be turned on outside before entering a damaged home—the battery may produce a spark that could ignite leaking gas, if present.
- Check for fires, fire hazards and other household hazards.
- Sniff for gas leaks, starting at the water heater. If you smell gas or suspect a leak, turn off the main gas valve, open windows, and get everyone outside quickly.
- Clean up spilled medicines, chemicals, flammables, etc.
- Call your insurance agent.
- Take pictures of damage.
- Separate damaged and undamaged belongings.
- Keep good records of repair and cleaning costs.
- Watch out for animals, especially poisonous snakes. Use a stick to poke through debris.
